

BPL should not be implemented because of its interference to other radio services. There are other technologies that with time and improvement would do the same job better. Power lines are not meant to carry rf. I live close to a test site and have heard BPL in action